THE MEDLEY OF MEDLEYS.

As I was going down the street,
With Maggie by my side,
An old crow sat on a hickory limb—
Make way for liberty! he cried.

We go for strong, vigorous measures,
Said the spider to the fly;
The artful dodger sighed,
Good bye, old arm, good bye.

Hark from the tombs a doleful sound—
No Irish need apply;
Listen to the gipsy's warning,
Don't fly your kite too high.

We won't go home till morning—
What's that to you?
I'm a young man from the country—
I paddle my own canoe.

I spent six weeks in Georgia,
With the sword of Bunker Hill;
I heard old Abe telling jokes,
Methinks I hear him still.

Dearest love, do you remember
The cottage by the sea?
'Twas twenty years ago to-day,
Beneath the old oak tree.

Weep not for me, the veteran cried,
I'm a bachelor forlorn;
I'm going home to die no more,
I'll meet you in the morn.

A grasshopper sat on a sweet potato vine,
With the banjo on his knee;
To arms! to arms! he cried,
My country, 'tis of thee!

Meet me by moonlight alone,
I say to Nellie Bly,
Says she to me—Joe Bowers,
The goose hangs high.

We'll hang Jeff Davis on a sour apple tree,
The Radicals once did avow;
Tell me, ye winged winds,
Why don't they do so now?

Lie up nearer, brother,
Picayune Butler's coming to town;
Great God! she cried, in accents wild,
I tremble at his frown.

The boy stood on the burning deck,
With Bingen on the Rhine;
And Noah he got on a spree,
In the days of Auld Lang Syne.

There's a good time coming, boys,
A hundred years hence;
The country's gone to thunder, John,
There's a nigger in the fence.

Now I lay me down to sleep,
Oh, Susannah, don't you cry;
How are you, Horace Greely?
Tear down the flaunting lie.

The poor old slave has gone to rest,
But his soul is marching on;
Wake, Betsey wake, my sweet galoot,
Who's pin here since ish pin gone?

LOST IN THE WOODS.

A LEGEND OF VERMONT.

About ninety years ago the events of my story commenced. It was in Vermont, within the limits of the township of Rockingham or Springfield, it is impossible to say which, that the log cabin which was the home of the heroine stood, surrounded by a forest. The real names of the actors in this tragedy of the woods have passed out of the legend, and I, therefore, substitute names which come to my mind.

"I have finished my spinning, Robert, and I shall carry the yarn home to-day. I think I will spend the day with Mrs. Green, and wish you would come and meet me and bring the baby home," said the young wife, taking the linen yarn in her apron and the baby on her arm.

"Very well," replied the husband, giving his crowing child a kiss, as he started off with his hoe over his shoulder for his wheat field. His lot had been burned over and sown with wheat, but the huge stumps of the old trees, and the thick underground roots in the new land, prevented the use of the plow.

All day he worked busily in the fresh soil, with the strange wood sound about him, eating his lunch at noon from the little basket, until the lengthened shadows of the forest around his clearing betokened sunset. Then he started off to meet his wife. A mile or two in the forest his neighbor Green had made his clearing. He went on, without meeting his wife and baby, until he got to his neighbor's door.

"Why," said Mrs. Green, in answer to his enquiries, "didn't you meet her? She hasn't been gone long—only a few minutes."

"Can she possibly have missed the marked trees?" asked Robert Harris, aghast.

"Do not be alarmed, neighbor Harris," said Mr. Green, "I will go along back with you."

The two men went together through the forest, which every moment grew darker and drearier. They called Mrs. Harris' name aloud at intervals, but there came no reply. They kept saying to each other, "We may find her at home," but they were heavy at heart.

The log house was reached, but the mother and baby were not there. The cow lowed to be milked, and the pigs, who ran in the woods all day and came home at night, clamored for their usual feeding, but the men took no notice of them. Back again through the woods, with a lantern, calling and hallooing. Then they went to the next clearing, and the next.

"A woman lost!" What telegram in the exciting days of battle ever fell more thrillingly on human ears than those words, going from mouth to mouth among the home-nests of a new country?

With iron muscles and determined wills the warm-hearted settlers started out. "We will scour the woods; we will find her, never fear!" According to a custom they had at such times, they blew dinner horns, built fires, and shouted until they were hoarse. No tidings of the lost ones on that night. All the next day they searched, and day after day as long as possible. Fires were left smouldering among the trees, men who knew the woods kept resolutely to the search, but the budding April forests had its own secrets.

When Mrs. Harris started, with her baby in her arms, from Mrs. Green's, expecting momentarily to meet her husband, she went on carelessly, her attention being directed in part to the child, when, suddenly looking up, she discovered no white scar of the axe on any tree in sight. But she fancied she had only stepped out of the track, and might in a moment regain it. A vain fancy! She went on, but nothing familiar met her eye.

The night came on. The song birds went to rest, and the owls commenced their doleful hooting. She was alone with her infant in a great sea of forest, where never woodman's axe had echoed. She was lost. She sat down faint and tired, and, womanlike, began to cry. Hark! That was a human shout! She arose and, holding her course, ran breathlessly toward it. And now she thought she heard it again, farther off. Many hours of the night were spent in running, with hysterical sobs and palpitating heart, towards the voices of her friends, so near that she could hear them, but so far away that no effort of frenzied strength could enable her to reach their protecting presence. Towards morning she slept, leaning against a tree, with the baby on her bosom. But she started nervously in her dreams, and at the first bird song awoke to full consciousness. With daybreak came a renewal of her courage. She would not weakly give up to die. Her friends would find them. She saw near her some last year's berries, and tough leaves of wintergreen, and a few acorns. A poor breakfast, but she eat whatever she could find, for the sake of her child more than her own. This day also she ran wildly through the tangle of dead brakes and briers, growing from the decay of centuries over the gullies and jagged rocks, past rude branches that caught at and rent her dress, till she came to the dying embers of a fire. Here she lingered long. Her friends had been here; perhaps Robert had kindled this fire with his own hands, and for her. Hark, again! the search has commenced this morning. Echoing through the woods comes the prolonged shriek of the dinner horn. She calls with all the desperation of one drowning; she rushes forward, but the ground is rough, and, alas! how heavy the baby grows! She is giddy from the loss of sleep and the want of food. The baby moans and will not be comforted. In this way she passed the day and another dreadful night. She finds another fire; she stays by it and keeps it burning through the night, for she is afraid of wolves. Another morning and she is almost hopeless. O, will not heaven pity her? The little one grows weaker; he cannot hold up his head. Another terrible night; baby moans piteously; he falls into convulsions; the next day he dies. All day she carries the little, lifeless body in her arms, and all night, beneath the unpitying stars, she holds it to her bosom.

She carried the little dead burden day after day, until the purple hue of decay was setting rapidly over it, and she felt, with a pang at her heart, that she must bury it. Then she looked about for a spot where she might dig the tiny grave, so deep that the wildcat and wolf would not scent it out. Weak as she was, this was no easy task, but in her wanderings she came upon a giant tree, uptorn at some former time by a hurricane. In the soft earth where the roots had lain she scooped out the baby's resting place, and, making it soft with moss, covered the cold little form forever from her sight. Then she sat down by the grave in a stupor of grief. Hour after hour passed; how to commence the dreadful pilgrimage? Then she noted everything about the spot. Here was a rock, there stood an immense hemlock. Yes, she would know the place. She could find it easily with Robert.

Then began again the struggle through the wilderness. Day after day, week after week, she passed on. Her shoes were worn to fragments and fell from her feet. Her garments were torn to tatters. But the days grew warmer, and the fever that was burning in her veins made even the soft showers that fell upon her welcome. First she ate the buds of trees and the bark of the birch. Presently she began to find the young checkerberry leaves, and now and then she came upon a partridge's nest, and greedily sucked the eggs. After a time there were red raspberries and black thimble berries in the woods, and then she knew it was July. The trees had now put on afresh their beautiful garments. But for the delicious poetry one finds in the woods, sauntering out from the busy world for an hour, she cared nothing. She saw nothing but trees, trees, trees, in interminable succession. It seemed years, yes, ages ago that she swept the hearth with a birch broom, and sung the baby to sleep in Robert's cabin. Her mind grew bewildered, still she went on, on, on. When she came to a large stream she went up towards its source until she could wade across it. So she said; and she affirmed that she never crossed a stream wider than a brook. She paid no attention to sun and moon as a guide, or indication of the points of the compass, but she must have taken a northwesterly direction. There were Black river, Mill river, Waterqueechy, and White Wait's Well, flowing into the Connecticut river from the Vermont side; but she constantly asserted that she saw none of them. Through July and August there were berries of various kinds, and by means of these she sustained what little life was left. And now the maple began to take on its gorgeous crimson, and the silver birches to wear their pale gold of September; the birds were leaving the forest; occasionally she had glimpses of a black bear, turned out of the path afraid of the human form; but no human being did she meet. And long before human voices had ceased to call her name.

Was she alone on earth, and was the earth one vast wilderness without outlet, without a clearing or a settlement? Had God taken all life but that of brutes, and forgotten her, or ordained her to wander forever? Tramping, tramping, with her feet bleeding and cracked at first; and after calloused; naked, or nearly so; knowing nothing of time or place, she was fast becoming idiotic; when she was hungry she sought for food, but the great idea lingering in her mind was that of pressing on. Since the luxuriance of summer had filled the forest with ferns and a new growth of brier and underbrush, there was more trouble of passing through. But she had become quite accustomed to the rough work, and the frenzy at last became a steady, constant habit, almost the labor of life to her.

One day in October the inhabitants of the village of Charleston, N. H., were startled into the wildest excitement by seeing a nearly naked, emaciated woman, with her hair streaming upon her shoulders, walk with bewildered gaze along their streets. She told them she was Robert Harris's wife, and that she was lost.

"Robert Harris's wife, who disappeared from the opposite side of the river in April!" exclaimed the villagers. "How had she crossed the Connecticut? Where had she been all this time?"

But she told them she had never crossed the Connecticut, and that she had been lost in the woods all this time. There was no lack of hospitality; the wanderer was immediately clad and fed and cared for to the utmost. Volunteers went at once and brought her husband, for the story of his bereavement was well known on the Charleston side of the river.

We can only imagine the meeting, and the tears that were shed at the thought of the little, forsaken grave by the uprooted tree. But it is said that joy bells were rung in the village, and the poor woman, a living skeleton, was nursed and petted—everybody vieing with her neighbor to lavish every good thing upon her—until her weakened mind received its tone again.

As she constantly asserted she had never crossed the river, it is supposed she wandered into Canada, and going round the Connecticut at its source, or crossing where it was a brooklet, passed down on the New Hampshire side, until she reached a location just opposite that from which she started.

When she began to grow strong again her mind recurred constantly to the grave in the wilderness. She described to her husband its surroundings, and he went and searched for it, but without success. As soon as she was able, she went out with her husband and other friends, to search, but the baby's grave was never found.

It was thought very strange that she, in all her wanderings, never met a roving Indian, but so it was. The Indian tribes had perhaps nearly disappeared from New England since the French and Indian war; but however that may be, the first human being she saw, after the burial of her infant, was in Charleston.

This singular legend has descended to the writer from a descendant of hers, who was the third child born in the town of Rockingham, Vt., and the story is an undoubted fact.

The Freeman for the Campaign

ONLY FIFTY CENTS.

In hopes to induce every Democrat in the county, not already a subscriber, to take our paper, at least during the campaign, we propose to send the enlarged Freeman for twelve weeks, commencing with the next or following issue, to any address on the receipt of fifty cents. Who will be the first among our friends to get us up a list of campaign subscribers?

A VOLUNTEER TICKET.

The Radicals of Cambria county, tired of a square fight against the Democrats, are endeavoring to reach the county offices by a flank movement—that is, neither more nor less, than by getting a volunteer ticket of Democrats into the field, and dividing the Democratic vote, and thus, between the opposing factions, elect a Radical ticket. A pretended Wilmore Democrat, who styles himself "Anthropon," harps on this string in the Johnstown Tribune; and he must excuse us for believing that he is neither a Wilmorean nor a Democrat, but a Johnstown radical.

Four years ago the little borough of Wilmore presented a candidate for Treasurer, and he was nominated—the Ebensburg delegates voting for him, against an excellent man of their own. Hence Wilmore has no claims now, and should feel grateful to Ebensburg; therefore, "Anthropon," we think, is not a Wilmorean. He publishes his communication in the Tribune, a radical paper—a paper which calls Democrats "copperheads," "rebel sympathisers," and the like—whereas, if he had been a Democrat, he would have sent it to the Democrat or Freeman, either of which Democratic organs would have published it. Therefore "Anthropon" is not a Democrat.

The Democratic Convention met on the fullest notice. Every district in the county was represented by true Democrats of their own choosing. The Convention was harmonious—no charge of fraud or corruption. Every candidate was fairly nominated. It is not pretended to be denied that the candidates all come up to the Jeffersonian test—all "honest and capable." But "Anthropon" sympathises with the large Townships—Carroll, Clearfield, Allegheny and Washington. They have more Democratic votes than Johnstown and Ebensburg, even with Wilmore added. But these large Democratic districts got what they wanted. It is true, one of these townships—Washington—presented a most excellent man for Sheriff. But Allegheny, Clearfield and Carroll preferred another, as they had a right to do. None of the large districts had a candidate for Treasurer, and their delegates were divided. So were the Ebensburg delegates, one voting for Cox, one for Kinkead, and two for M'Colgan.

More than this, the candidates were all nominated by the country districts, and if they are satisfied, radicals in Johnstown or Wilmore need not complain. Our tickets are never nominated with a view to the wishes of the radicals. A Democrat who would have objected to Mr. M'Creight, as a nominee, that he lived in Johnstown, or to Mr. M'Colgan that he lived in Wilmore, or to Judge Kinkead that he lived in Ebensburg, might think himself a good Democrat, but we fail "to see it."

O, no, Mr. "Anthropon," you are only damaging Michael M'Colgan, Esq., and other Democrats, by dating your radical document at Wilmore. He and his friends do not sympathise with you, and can only see in this an opening to let the radicals into power.

Already they are striving to amalgamate a ticket at Johnstown, to be called a "New County Ticket," or any other name that will damage the Democracy.

No objection is made to any of the candidates, as to qualifications. They have all been nominated precisely in accordance with the usages of the Democratic party, as pursued for the last thirty years in Cambria county. Whenever the Democratic masses desire it this system will be changed—until then Democratic nominations, when fairly made, will be successful, as they always have been in the past; and woe to the Democrat who seeks, by dividing the serried columns of his party, to place radicalism in power in Cambria county.

BROTHERLINE AND JURIES.

The editor of the "Radical and Whig" is a funny old cuss. He wants to know if it requires more than twelve to constitute a jury in Cambria county? Certainly, the kind of juries that he has had most business before—the Grand Jury—consists of twice that number. It didn't require any traverse jury during the war, as Military Commissions did the business, but in Cambria county a traverse jury has always consisted of twelve. Mr. B. "asks for information"—a thing he very much needs—and we have given it to him.

By the way, since our friend has, in addition to the B. B., been dubbed R. B., or Register in Bankruptcy, he has taken a new name, to please the appointing power, and put "Radical" as the first name to his paper.

Now the old name of Whig, which at one time we sported in common with John, represented a conservative organization, and John finds this will no longer do; and as fond as he is of riding two horses at the same time, even when they travel in opposite directions, he ought, for shame, to drop the "Whig" when he assumes the "Radical," as the one is precisely a contradiction of the other. A white blackbird would be just as appropriate as a Radical Whig.

Indeed, in his local column John drops the Whig and goes the Radical clean—or rather dirty—and promises "several supplementary Whigs during the campaign." But it's no use reasoning with the Register in Bankruptcy. We can't convince him, and he can't be got under conviction, unless "by twelve."

MRS. SURRATT.—Even the Evening Bulletin admits there is great doubt as to the guilt of the unfortunate woman who was murdered at Washington two years ago, and whose doom was then by loyal folks thought a just one. Even the Bulletin is shocked at the story which is just now put in circulation that David Hunter's bloody tribunal formally recommended to the President to commute Mrs. Surratt's punishment, and that their recommendation was suppressed and withheld from Mr. Johnson. He never saw it or heard of it. Who suppressed it? Who withheld it? These questions must be answered. The Military Commission was a devise of the War Department. Stanton and Holt contrived it. Their judgment and, of course, their recommendation went to the War Department. The War Department must know all about it. Let it speak. One other witness there was, but his lips are sealed. The ooze of the bottom of the Hudson covers him. This was Seward's friend Preston King. He it was, who, in the dark interval between Mrs. Surratt's sentence and execution, kept guard at the White House. He repelled the weeping daughter. He denied all access to the Executive. And the day of doom came, and the bolt was drawn and the manacled woman fell "six feet," and died with a broken neck or congested brain; and a few weeks later, the man who barred the gates of mercy, threw himself off a Jersey City ferry boat, and, with loaded pockets and a conscience burdened, sank to the bottom of the river. But Holt and Stanton still live to tell what became of the recommendation to mercy!—Phil. Age.

—John Albert, Esq., of Greenville, Lebanon county, has in possession a chicken, which was hatched on his premises, having four fully developed legs and feet. Those supernumerary members, which proceed from the body, independently from the other legs and posterior to them, manifest a slight motion when the chicken moves, but do not assist in walking; they do not touch the ground, but stand horizontally in direction to the length of the body. This monstrosity in the feathered race is thought to be a singular curiosity not often met with.

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

—The Democrats of the Jefferson district have renominated Hon. W. P. Jenks for member of the Legislature. Mr. Jenks is one of the best lawyers and purest men in the State.

—A Montgomery negro, confined for vagrancy, tried to hang himself, on Monday week. The door of the cell being opened to prevent his purpose, he rushed out, ran to the river and drowned himself.

—Farm hands are wanted in the West, and the demand for them comes from all quarters. The enormous crop now almost ready for harvest will require, to properly secure it, more hands than can be procured in the West.

—A murderer in Chicago who shot his wife, mother, child and others of his family, wept like a child at his conviction. He should be tenderly sympathized with, poor soul, and made as comfortable as possible.

—In New Hampshire, the dominating Radicals debar all Catholics from holding office. And yet they boast of their intelligence, toleration, regard for freedom, and the "rights of man." What hypocrites and fanatics!

—At Fredisburg, eighteen miles from New Albany, Indiana, last Wednesday, Mr. Rice was stung on the lip by a bee, and the poison spread through his system so rapidly that he was speechless in thirty minutes, and died in about three hours.

—A stepmother whipped a five year old child at Sterling, Ill., nearly to death, recently. She beat it and smothered it with a pillow till life was nearly extinct, when the neighbors took the child away from her and found its back literally cut to pieces.

—Old Matthias Oberfield, of Akron, Ohio, wanted his wife to buy him a glass of cider, the other day, and upon her refusal to do so, he put a pistol to his mouth and blew his breath away forever. He was determined to get a draught of something, and he got it.

—A letter from Rome says that among the notabilities now in that city is a ritualist clergyman of the Anglican Church who appeared at all the Catholic ceremonies attired in full dress of a pilgrim or hermit, and assists most devoutly at all the religious functions of the season.

—The boilers in the Fulton cotton mill, at Lancaster, Pa., exploded on the morning of the 13th inst., demolishing a great part of the building and killing some nine of the operatives and injuring several others. One of the boilers was carried a full square, redounding twice from the earth in its passage.

—The Lancaster Express, a Radical sheet, says that Thad Stevens had bought lots in several cemeteries, but finding that there were not "any of God's children" buried in them, he cancelled his purchases. A "copperhead" organ remarks that—"He seems to think as little of his grave as he does of his bed."

—In Mexico negroes vote and possess equality, and what is the state of affairs?—continual revolutions, conspiracies and wars. Neither property nor life has been at any time secure in that country since the enfranchisement of the blacks. Mongrelism has cursed Mexico as it will curse the United States unless the Radical party schemers shall be controverted.

—A man named O'Neill, says the Venango Spectator of the 12th, employed on the Allegheny Valley R. R., was drowned near the mouth of Big Scrubgrass, on Saturday last, whilst attempting to ford the river on horseback. His body was recovered the same day. Another man, name unknown, was drowned whilst bathing near the same place, half an hour afterward.

—Immediately succeeding the surrender of the city of Mexico, Gen. Baez, the Juarist commander, ordered the nuns to vacate the convents within forty-eight hours, and, in accordance with the order, on the 23d of June the eight hundred and sixty nuns were driven out. Henceforth, it is said, there are to be no more convents in Mexico. This is the "liberal" course pursued by the self-styled "Liberal party" of Mexico.

—A terrible murder was perpetrated about midnight on Friday last, in Springfield, Ill. An industrious and sober laborer, by the name of John Graham, beat out the brains of his wife while she was asleep. When arrested, he confessed the murder, said he was drunk when he committed the deed, but was jealous of his wife and wanted to get rid of her. They have been married about ten years, and have four young children. Graham heretofore bore a good character.

—Water is purified by a French chemist by using alum. He states that two grains of alum to a pint of water will clarify water which is unfit to drink, and the taste of the alum will not be perceived. Another French chemist, in Algiers, shows that muddy water will became drinkable in the course of from seven to seventeen minutes by adding half a grain of potassi alum to every quart of water.

—Ten years ago a citizen of St. Louis county, Missouri, made a will, in which he provided that certain of his slaves, ten in number, should each receive five hundred dollars on condition of their emigrating to Liberia, or "such other country as might be set apart for free persons of color." The legatees have never gone to Liberia, but they have sued for their money, and got it, on the ground that Missouri was "such other country," &c.

Small, but Characteristic.

We think it is justifiable, says the Pittsburgh Post, to charge that the attempt of some Radical editors to traduce the character of Judge Sharswood, and to raise up a personal prejudice among the people is unworthy of honorable men. We have no right to expect anything else, for the game has been invariably pursued against every democratic candidate, no matter how virtuous or upright. But we have a right to protest against it, and to give it its right name.

We are aware that it is unreasonable to look for a twenty-inch shell to proceed out of the mouth of a four-inch piece.

Things must work, of course, according to their calibre. The idea designed to be conveyed by these editors, to the popular mind, is something deemed by them very prejudicial to the character of Judge Sharswood. They would teach that Judge Sharswood is in favor of something that will injure the people; whereas it is impossible for a fair man, like him, to entertain or sanction any such thing. These editors know better. They know that he is not the sort of man they are endeavoring by ingenious, but sophistical representations to make him appear. They cite a legal opinion given by him several years ago in the performance of his professional duties as proof that he would do something that would injure his fellow citizens. This is not only unjust, but it is false.

The sum and substance of Judge Sharswood's opininon referred to, in common sense language is, that men should fairly abide by fair contracts; and that if a man makes a bargain to pay for a house or a horse in gold, he ought to pay it in gold, or its equivalent. And this is precisely the sort of justice that ought to prevail between man and man. We would be loath to believe that the Republican candidate, Judge Williams, would advocate or sustain a contrary doctrine.

Go on Radicals; you think the people are so easily gulled. We think you will find out pretty soon that you have made a slight mistake. Being small, it is, of course, of no great consequence. You can take your time to correct it.

THE LATEST AND BEST NEWS is that R. H. Singer, who, upon his entries into our town, reduced the price of horse-shoeing one-third, has determined still to lead the van, and offers to work 10 per cent. lower than the lowest for cash, and insures satisfaction. Persons needing tire on their wagons or carriages, can save dollars by giving him their work. "A dollar saved is a dollar gained," and the way to save many of them is to get your blacksmithing done with Mr. Singer, at the west end of town. Mr. S. is also selling I. C. Singer's unequalled Tire and Band Bender—a machine which saves a great amount of time and labor and bends the Tire round and true—of which Wm. Myers, of Altoona, says he would not take $100 and do without. Any amount of testimony just like that can be shown, but the machine is its own best recommendations to a mechanic. Persons wishing to purchase should call on or address R. H. SINGER, Ebensburg.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL.

e present issue of the Freeman concludes first half year of its publication, and in dance with promise our paper will next appear enlarged by four additional ns, all considerably extended in length. w and very handsome head, from the of Foundry of Messrs. Collins & M'Leesport, Philadelphia, and other new features will mark the proposed improvement. As e are many things to be done consequent our enlargement, we did not design issuer a paper next week, but as there are al legal advertisements which must ap-, we will be forced to get it out as best can. The following week, however, we devote to "setting our house in order," therefore no paper will be published dur- that week. After that time the Free- will appear regularly, as heretofore, and r yearly subscriber will be furnished the full complement (fifty copies).

e feel that in entering upon the second year no new promises are requisite. In ging our paper we secure much additional room for more general variety, and we ise our readers that they shall have the ht of this extension. We trust, however, that those who have not yet paid their riptions will bear in mind that in making the improvements proposed we have been ed to considerable outlay at present and incur much additional expense and la- in the future. We therefore hope that subscription yet unpaid—and fully one of our subscribers are of that class—will in so one month longer. Those of our s who have paid for half a year, or will, we trust, remit the balance without delay. And if any there be who wish to discontinue the paper, now is the time to say to the matter.

e do not design increasing the subscription price of the Freeman, but certainly have objection to increasing its subscription. With those of our readers who wish to see the Freeman succeed lend a helping hand in extending its circulation? The Freeman, when enlarged, will be the cheapest paper published in Cambria county, and no effort on our part will be wanting to make it the best.

EGGS-TRAORDINARY EGGS-CITEMENT.—A rather eggs-traordinary eggs-citement exists just now among the goodly people of Wilmore, this county, occasioned by a nature in shape of a hen's egg bearing strange devices and figures, which was produced in that village on Tuesday of last week. We are informed by a gentleman who saw it, and in whose veracity we place the utmost confidence, that the egg in question bears in the center of a perfectly formed semblance of a leaf, with a figure beneath it bearing a strong resemblance to a serpent, and also the figures 1 and 0, besides a rather indistinct outline of the letters A and L, and a cross or two, with other devices which cannot be said to resemble anything. Hundreds of persons, we are told, have visited the house where the wonderful egg is on exhibition, but we have not learned that any one has been able to account for this eggs-traordinary freak of nature. Unless the hen gobbled up a leaf, or the multiplication table, the alphabet, or we confess we are at a loss to determine how produced the singular devices, but admit no one to predict anything from the circumstance too terrible to contemplate. We leave the matter to "Anthropon" for elucidation.

PHOTOGRAPHIC.—We neglected to notice in due time the receipt of a well executed 8x10 ambrotype representment of our attentive and obliging Johnstown correspondent, "Sku Bal," which, we are free to say, is one of the most life-like and accurate photographs we have ever seen. As a specimen of the skill of Mr. W. G. Trice, an artist who has recently located in Johnstown, it evinces an artistic ability in his art that cannot fail to make his pictures sought after by all who wish to "secure the shadow ere the substance fades." Call and see our young friend's picture, and you can appreciate artistic excellence and detect a likeness of yourself, you will not fail to visit Mr. Trice's gallery, corner of Main and Franklin streets, third floor.

A SUGGESTION.—Doubtless many of the patrons of the Freeman fail to file their papers simply because many of the copies, in passing through the hands of those who read them, are either mislaid or become unfit for preservation. To such we would suggest the propriety of subscribing for an additional copy, which we will agree to file each week in our office, and keep in good condition. This will only require an outlay of two dollars per year, and in the distant future, if so disposed, they will find no difficulty in getting their money back with compound interest by the sale of these files.

THE LATEST.—John D. Thomas has just added to his stock a very fine assortment of hats, shoes, gaiters, etc., for ladies, gents and children's wear, of the latest styles and best manufacture. We never saw anything finer or better finished than the handsome variety of shoes and gaiters embraced in his last invoice. Nothing like them have ever been offered for sale in this market. Mr. T. has no goods but such as he will warrant in repair, if need be, free of charge, and no one can sell this class of work at lower prices than he offers them.

LITERATURE.—C. T. Roberts has just received at his jewelry and notion store a select assortment of the choicest literature, which the reading public would do well to examine. Standard works of acknowledged merit, as well as novels of the most exciting character, will be found comprised in his assortment. Also, school books, stationery, and a great variety of toy books and notions.

LIVE within your means if you would have means within which to live, and about the surest mode of doing this is to buy all you need in the mercantile line from H. A. Shoemaker & Co., whose stock comprises everything, from a row of pins to any article of household furniture. Harry will be found attentive and his prices low.

EDITORIALITIES, LOCAL AND GENERAL.—

Eddie, son of E. J. Keenan, Esq., Greensburg, was severely scalded, on the 3d inst., by pulling a teakettle of boiling water upon himself.

An old man named Jacob Hubler, of Graham township, Clearfield county, fell dead while at work in one of his fields, on the 4th instant.

Lena Miller, lately convicted of poisoning her husband in Clearfield county, has been sentenced to death. She received her doom without manifesting any emotion.

A lad named Frank Garlock died in Huntingdon, on Thursday, from the effects of eating cherries, which he had partaken of in quantity, stones and all, a week previous.

A Southern paper says that Jefferson Davis once owned seven hundred slaves, but the only one of his bondmen who ever distinguished himself was Hörace Greely.

Brother Traugh, of the Hollidaysburg Standard, was all the way to Bellefonte, a few days ago, in pursuit of his favorite recreation, trout fishing, but got "nary bite."

Mr. George Bigelow, of Orwell, Ohio, was drowned in the river near Blairsville, on the evening of the 6th inst., while bathing. He was a young man and was engaged in the lightning rod business.

There can be no doubt of the success of the Democratic ticket in Bedford county, but if there be anything in a name the candidate for Auditor will Whip his opponent worse than any other nominee on the ticket.

Our thanks are due our friend and townsman, John D. Thomas, for a mess of new potatoes, grown in his own garden. They were rather "small potatoes," it is true, but none the less palatable on that account. Who's next?

A Mr. John Rupert, of Centre county, died not long since from the effects of eating a portion of the root of a plant known as wild parsnip, which he had pulled up and partaken of under the impression that it was sweet myrrh.

Mr. James F. Campbell, formerly editor of the Johnstown Democrat, but more recently foreman on the Pittsburgh Post, has purchased the Genius of Liberty establishment at Uniontown, Pa., and will shortly assume control of that journal.

That true soldier, steadfast democrat and much esteemed personal friend, Capt. John S. M'Kiernan, of Clearfield county, is about removing with his family to Pittsburgh, for the purpose of accepting a lucrative position tendered him by the Pa. R. R. Co. Success attend him.

The Cambria county radicals, after scouring the Democratic party from Dan to Bersheba to get a bolting democrat to take the field for Sheriff, are likely, we are told, to get a Bolton radical at Dan. If so, the radical train will be under the charge of an experienced conductor.

The first nine of the Mountaineer base ball club of Ebensburg measure fifty-four feet, an average of six feet to each man. The Mountaineer is one of the best clubs in the State.—Patriot and Union. The Mountaineers are not only tall in stature, but mentally and morally the "tallest" fellows in this part of Pennsylvania—and unconquerable on their own base.

The "Mountaineers" were defeated by the "Kicks," in the return match game of base ball at Johnstown, on Saturday last. The score stood: Kicks, 30; Mountaineers, 27. Much money is said to have changed hands among outsiders in consequence. A collision between two of the best players in the Mountaineer club, while endeavoring to catch a ball from the bat, whereby one of them had an eye bunged up, it is fair to presume, had much to do with the defeat of our boys. As the games between these clubs stand, in gambler's parlance, "horse and horse," it is intended to have the "sugar" game ere long on neutral ground.

A WEDDING in a balloon was among the novelties at Pittsburgh on the 4th of July. The happy couple went up in an extacy of delight, and if they come down in this neighborhood it is more than likely that the cheap store of J. M. Thompson, on High street, will be the first place they will "go for" to buy their housekeeping outfit. Jim keeps a fine assortment, which he sells as cheap as the cheapest, but people needn't go up in a balloon to get there, if it is on High street.

GEIS & REUTH, at their new book bindery on Clinton street, Johnstown, have now facilities for executing all kinds of binding on most liberal terms. Pamphlets, music, etc., sent them by Express or otherwise will be neatly and securely bound, and returned to their owners in the shortest space of time. A large selection of books, wall papers, fancy articles and bijou ornaments, kept constantly on hand and sold cheap. Remember the place—Clinton street, opposite Foster House.

DAVIS' PANORAMA OF THE GREAT REBELLION, a work of art which has no equal in its way on this continent, will be exhibited at the Court House in this place, on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings of next week, July 23d and 24th. The Panorama embraces accurate scenes of the great struggle, from the evacuation of Fort Moultrie to the battle of Chicamauga. Admission price, 50 cents: children, 25 cents. See programmes.

STILL IN TOWN.—Messrs. Mills & Davis are still "in town" with a full and exceedingly handsome stock of merchandise of all descriptions, and their store has become one of the permanent institutions of the place, where no one can go amiss who wishes to get the full worth of his money. New goods are being almost constantly received by this firm, and they appear determined not to be undersold.

THE happiest man in the world is the man with just wealth enough to keep him in spirits, and just children enough to make him industrious, and just economy enough to induce him to purchase his dry goods, groceries, etc., from V. S. Barker, on High street, who is ever ready and willing to give all comers full value for their stamps.

A GOOD INVESTMENT.—A very valuable property for a public resort can be purchased on the most satisfactory terms, by making application to the editor of the Freeman.—We are satisfied that no property more suitable for the purpose can be purchased here or elsewhere.

LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.

JOHNSTOWN, JULY 15, 1867.

Dear Freeman—An attempt was last week made to resuscitate the "new county" dodge, but it resulted in disastrous failure to the project and a considerable deal of amusement to outside observers. Several written hand-bills had been posted in conspicuous positions, calling upon the "New County League" to "re-orginize," and all "anty-Ebensburgers" to meet in Council chambers on Thursday, July 11th, to devise ways and means for the formation of a new county. In anticipation, methought I saw numerous rides to Scalp Level, Perkinsville, and other important villages in the south of the county, and of course at the expense of the new countyites, but alas for human expectation! some wag had written out a burlesque call of citizens irrespective of color, to assemble on the same night, and suggested a number of reasons why the New County scheme should succeed. These "reasons" ran up as high as 12thly, and being posted in a conspicuous position on the P. O. building, were of course generally read. The night of meeting, like all other anticipated periods of time, at length arrived, but the new county men didn't appear to "orginize," and "Sku B." and a couple of friends had to take the whole business upon their own shoulders. After a lengthy debate 'twixt the three (fortunate number) we concluded to adjourn for a glass of lager, and thus, through the seductive influence of malt fluid, the new county was lost, and posterity must blame it all on beer. It is not necessary to advert to the little game which had been mapped out, but I had thought the dodge was stale, and would not be again attempted. Sic transit new county.

The dead body of a female infant, not more than twenty-four hours old, was found in a bucket in the house of Mrs. Susannah Yetter, on Tuesday of last week, and a Coroner's jury, which was summoned, decided that it had been born alive, and afterwards killed by its unnatural mother, the woman named above, who is a widow of two years' standing. As soon as her condition permits of it, she will be sent to your place to answer for the crime of infanticide.

I notice by the Tribune that a little child of Mr. Thomas Parfitt, residing near the "First Lock" below town, was recently so severely scalded by the upsetting of a vessel filled with boiling starch that its life is endangered. The little sufferer is not a year old.

A man named Patrick Moore, who committed larceny in Pittsburgh a short time ago, was last week arrested in Harrisburg by a police officer from the former place. Whilst returning in custody of the officer to Pittsburgh, and when in the neighborhood of the "Pack-Saddle," near Bolivar, the unfortunate Moore jumped from the train, and as it was running on schedule speed, he was instantly killed.

A man named George Hoever, residing at Larimer's station, was struck by the engine of the Phila. Express east, on Saturday evening, near Irwin's station, and so severely injured that his life is despaired of.

Work upon the new water works has been commenced, and as it is the intention to push their erection to a rapid completion, our citizens will ere long be supplied with pure water in abundance. The reservoir will be located on Solomon's run, in Conemaugh township, and the water will be conveyed through a 16 inch main to town, from whence pipes will lead through all our streets. The elevation of the reservoir will be about 150 feet above the level of the corner of Main and Franklin streets, giving sufficient fall to supply the highest building in the town. At some future time I will give your readers a more extended account of this much needed improvement.

There was a considerable amount of base ball here last week, and as such matters appear to be of general interest I append the game between the Somerset and "Kick" clubs, and the score played on Saturday between the Mountaineer and Kickenepawling clubs, on return game. The Somerset boys, on 5 innings, succeeded in running up a score for themselves of 16, whilst the Kicks only made 73 scores in the same number of innings. The Somerset club concluded that it was rather one-sided, and gracefully yielded the bat. They are all "good fellows," and with 8 or 10 years' practice will make passable players.

The Mountaineer club came to time on Saturday, and as considerable interest is felt here both in the Ebensburg club and the "Kicks," a large crowd, including many ladies, were present to witness the game. The following is a correct report of this game:

Kickenepawl'g.	O.	R.	Mountaineers.	O.	R.

Some fine playing was done by the Mountaineers, and in particular by our friend, W. Hutchinson. As battists the Hutchinson boys are hard to beat.

Several Ebensburg ladies were in town on Saturday to witness the game, but "Sku Bal" promised one of them he wouldn't mention names, so she will please observe he didn't.

Quite a good joke is told in connection with the recent visit of the Independent, Jr., to Indiana, and their match game in that place. It appears the Monitor club, with whom they played, are all grown men, and seeing many familiar names, as former schoolmates, business friends, &c., among our young Independents, they sent them a challenge. Great preparations were made to receive them, and imagine their "pheelinks" when, instead of seeing their old friends, they saw the second edition thereof—sons of the fathers they had known, and with whom they anticipated a grand social re-union. The game was played, however, and the Junior Independents fared in Indiana about like the Somerset club did here, only more so. SKU BAL.

CHEST SPRINGS, JULY 15, 1867.

Dear Freeman—I was fortunate enough to be of the number who received an invitation, and had the pleasure of attending a Pic-Nic, given by the ladies of Loretto, on the 11th inst. Reached the spot selected for the occasion, which was a delightful grove a short distance from town, about noon. Found assembled there quite a number of both sexes, who had already been enjoying themselves in a very agreeable manner, as was manifest from their cheerful looks and lively dispositions. All seated themselves to partake of refreshments, which were bountifully provided and elegantly served up by the fair ones, consisting of all the delicacies of the season, not even omitting ice cream, wine and lager beer. Dinner over, the party divided in groups—some for a stroll through the grove, others to participate in a game of euchre, swinging &c., and others seeking enjoyment in "tripping the light fantastic toe" to the strains of music produced on that instrument whose tones are ever sweet to all true lovers of music—the violin.

At length the hour arrived when we were to leave the spot, made dear by the associations of the few previous hours, for a new scene of action.

Met according to agreement at the Hotel of J. B. Myers, Esq., who by the way, keeps a model house, as any of the readers of the Freeman can testify who have ever stopped with him. Partook of a hearty supper, and again all were soon whirling around the ball room to the lively strains of the same instrument whose company we parted at the grove.

It may not be out of place to give the names of the ladies who took a leading part in the management of the affair, and contributed so much to the enjoyment of those present: Miss Kate Christy, Miss Ellen Pfoff, Miss C. Adelsberger, Miss Maggie Bradley, Miss M. Conrad, Miss McAvoy, and others, whose names I cannot recall. It would be doing injustice not to mention the names of several gentlemen who so nobly seconded the efforts of the ladies by rendering much valuable assistance. The names are no doubt familiar to most of your readers, and to those of the fair sex particularly. Here they are: Mr. J. Fairborn, Mr. E. Shields and Mr. J. Null.

The whole affair was one of the most social I have ever had the pleasure of attending, and all present expressed themselves delighted beyond measure. The ladies of Loretto have maintained the reputation which they so justly deserve for their hospitality and kindness. ONE WHO WAS THERE.

—Lightning struck the Court House of Orange county, Va., on the night of the 2d inst., setting it on fire and destroying it and five other buildings.

—The silver chalice of St. Michael's Church, Charleston, S. C., has been rescued from a pawnbroker's shop in New York and restored to the church.

—Prentice says 'tis a pity that elections in the South cannot take place at this time, for although the negroes there are strong now they will be stronger in the dog days.

—Mrs. Hannah Armstrong, residing in the lower part of the city of Philadelphia, committed suicide by taking laudanum Friday night. She said her domestic troubles were more than she could bear.

—Two boys who were standing in a harvest field about four miles from Litchfield, Ill., were struck by lightning during a storm on the 3d, and instantly killed. A house in Gillespie was struck during the same storm, and one boy killed.

—A man named McCarthy, in Baltimore, took a girl named Ruth Langford out riding in a buggy, Friday afternoon, and, when a few miles from the city, the pair got into a quarrel, when McCarthy drew a pistol and shot Ruth, killing her instantly. The murderer was arrested.

—Mrs. Swisshelm says there is a little "sculptress" at Washington who "is as lavish in the display of her own bust as that of her Congressmen patrons." This must be the same fascinating creature who got an appropriation of $15,000 from the Rump for doing up the "late lamented" in marble.

—A few days ago a gentleman went into a saloon in Boston, and upon calling for some strawberries, observed a man near him eating some with his fingers. "Don't you furnish your customers with spoons?" asked the astonished stranger of the proprietor. "Oh yes, sir," said he, "but that is General Butler at that table!"

—The following is said to be a sure cure for neuralgia: Take two large tablespoons full of cologne, two tablespoonsful of fine salt, and mix them together in a small bottle; every time you have any acute affection of the nerve or neuralgia simply breathe the fumes in your nose from the bottle, and you will be immediately relieved.

—Among the novelties abroad is a small steamer, made of steel, as thin as card board, to be used by the exploring party in search of Dr. Livingstone. The boat is thirty feet in length, and from gunwale to gunwale eight feet in breadth, the weight being rather more than one ton. The boat can be taken to pieces in a very short time, and taken across the country by negroes.

—The following hints are seasonable, and may be true; they are at least worth trying:—Oil of pennyroyal will keep musquitoes out of a room, if scattered about in small quantities. Roaches are exterminated by scattering a handfull of fresh cucumber parings about the house. No fly will light on the window which has been washed with water in which a little garlic has been boiled.

—A terrible riot occurred last Friday week, at a circus, at Marietta. It seems that a quarrel took place between a showman and a citizen, when the former shot the latter through the head, killing him. A general fight then ensued, when a citizen struck the above showman on his head with the butt of the piece, killing him. At the same time the gun was discharged, the bullet passing through the heart of the man in whose hands it was.

—A man in Brooklyn having reason to suspect that his wife was criminally intimate with a male friend, bored some holes in the ceiling of her apartment, and, stationing himself in the room above, armed with a bottle of vitriol, awaited the course of events. He saw conclusive evidence of guilt, and used the vitriol with such terrible effect that both eyes of the woman were destroyed, and her visitor was burned so badly that he could not be removed from the house.

—A convict named Dewitt Clinton Scholl, undergoing a sentence at the New Jersey State prison, a few days since received a letter containing the highly important and satisfactory information, that by the death of his great grandmother he had fallen heir to a fortune of thirty thousand dollars. His comrades and others in prison warmly congratulated the lucky scamp, who seemed intensely elevated with the idea of good fortune, although he has to serve five years longer in the prison before he can enjoy it.

MEDICAL PREPARATIONS.

POLAND'S
Magic Bilious Powders

This Preparation is the discovery of Rev. J. W. Poland, formerly Pastor of the Methodist Church in Goffstown, N. H., a man dearly beloved by the whole denomination throughout New England. He was obliged to leave the pulpit and study medicine to save his own life, and his MAGIC POWDERS are the most wonderful discoveries of modern times. It is the GREAT LIVER AND BILIOUS REMEDY, which completely throws in the shade all other discoveries in medicine, and it affords him much gratification to know they receive the unanimous approbation of all who have tested them. The Magic Bilious Powders are a POSITIVE CURE for LIVER COMPLAINT in its most aggravated form, and an immediate corrector of all BILIOUS DERANGEMENTS. Excellent for Headache, Constipation, Pimples, Blotches, Sallow Skin, Drowsiness, Dizziness, Palpitation, Heartburn, and a most wonderful

Cure and Preventative of Fever & Ague.

(We advise all who are troubled with this fearful malady to always keep the Powders on hand ready for immediate use.)

Here are a few important particulars: 1st. They are the great specific for Bilious Affections. 2d. They are the only known remedies that will cure Liver Complaint. 3d. They are the only known remedy that will cure Constipation. 4th. The Powders are so thorough in their operation that one package will be all that the majority of those using them will require to effect a cure. 5th. They are a mild and pleasant yet the most effectual cathartic known. 6th. They are the cheapest and best medicine extant, as they can be sent by mail to any part of the globe for the price, 50 cents.

Circulars, containing certificates, information, etc., sent to any part of the world free of charge. ☞ Sold by all Druggists, or sent by mail on application to

COE'S DYSPEPSIA CURE.

This great remedy for all DISEASES OF THE STOMACH is the discovery of the inventor of Coe's valuable Cough Balsam, while experimenting for his own health. It cured Cramp in the Stomach for him when had before yielded to nothing but chloroform.

The almost daily testimony from various parts of the country encourages us to believe there is no disease caused by a disordered stomach it will not speedily cure. Physicians endorse and use it. Ministers give testimony of its efficacy; and from all directions we receive tidings of cures performed.

Dyspepsia it is sure to cure. Headache one dose will cure. Sick Headache is cured in hundreds of cases. Headache Dizziness it stops in thirty minutes. Acidity of the Stomach it corrects at once. Heartburn of the Food it stops immediately. Distress after Eating one dose will remove. Cholera Morbus rapidly yields to a few doses. Offensive Breath will be changed with half a bottle.

IT IS PERFECTLY HARMLESS

Its unprecedented success is owing to the fact that it cures by assisting Nature to assert her sway in the system.

Nearly every dealer in the United States sells it at ONE DOLLAR PER BOTTLE.

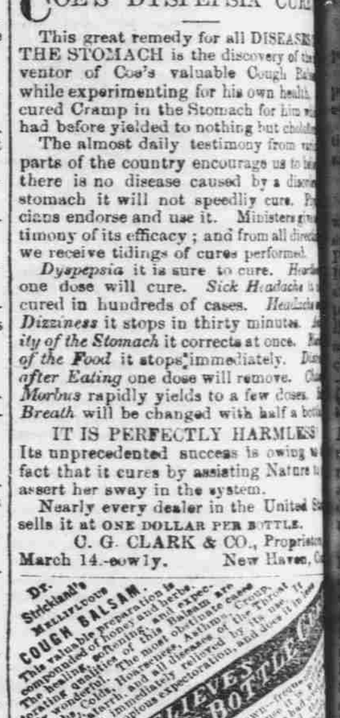
Dr. Strickland's
MEXLYPTOUS
COUGH BALSAM.



This valuable preparation is compounded of honey and herbs. The healing qualities of this balsam are truly wonderful. The most obstinate cases of Coughs, Colds, Hoarseness, Asthma, Bronchitis, Influenza, Catarrh, and Lung Affections are immediately relieved by its use, and always produces a copious expectoration, and does it in less time than any other remedy known. Protracted cases of the Throat and Lungs, pronounced incurable by other families, have become healthy by an unlimited use of this balsam, which has been used in my practice, and in my family for many years, with the most astonishing success. Public speakers and singers will find this balsam a perfect relief for hoarseness, and all Throat difficulties. Those who have been troubled with Coughs, Colds, Hoarseness, Asthma, Bronchitis, Influenza, Catarrh, and Lung Affections, will find relief by using this balsam. A Remedy FOR THE PILES.

DR. STRICKLAND'S Pile Remedy is, without doubt, the only cure preparation known which will cure Piles. The Doctor has thousands of letters to prove his assertion many of them very extraordinary cases. Jas. Wilkinson, of Mt. Gilead, Ohio, writes that his brother, who had suffered for many years with the Piles, was both cured with one bottle. Another is that of Mr. Kalamazoo, Mich., who, after suffering many years, was cured by this remedy. Another is that of Mr. Julian, who had suffered many years, was cured by this remedy. Another is that of Mr. Strickland, who had suffered many years, was cured by this remedy. Another is that of Mr. Julian, who had suffered many years, was cured by this remedy.
